WIZARD THEATRE

Western
3 Reels

ONE NIGHT AND THEN

This is positively the most interesting dramatic subject yet produced by the Biograph presenting a strong moral.

FAMINE IN THE FOREST OR A TRAPPER'S GRATITUDE
This Western picture is intensely interesting, beginning with the capture of the trapper by Sioux Indians and the burning of his cabin.

SENTIMENTAL SAM

An amusing Comedy in which a newly married couple attempt suicide as a result of their first quarrel "Sam" butts in and in a comical way prevents the tragedy.

IT MIGHT HAVE BEEN

Another good Lubin Comedy. This makes one of the best shows we have had the good fortune to secure in some time.

HOUSE AND SHED BURN TO GROUND

Vacant Dwelling Near Harney, Set on Fire by Tramps, Burns to the Ground. Reflection of New Windsor Fire Seen Here.

Fire near Harney late Saturday night destroyed the vacant tenant house of Michael Fringer.

The property was situated in the little village of Longville located about midway between Taneytown and Harney and the house was evidently set on fire as it had been unoccupied for some time. Neighbors were unable to save the building as it was burning fiercely when the blaze was discovered.

It is thought that the fire was the work of tramps who found lodging there, though whether intentional or otherwise is not known.

From Gettysburg Sunday night about eleven o'clock there could be plainly seen the reflection of a fire which was evidently some distance
South of town.

The property on fire was a shed on the farm of Frank Barnes, near New Windsor, Maryland, and although that far away the blaze was so great that the reflection was clearly apparent here.

The shed was struck by lightning and with the building was destroyed
a quantity of hay and straw together with some farming implements.

WHITE RUN

White Run, March 7.—Fishing has again become the sport for many people of that nature. The largest fish caught in White Run Creek so far measured 15 inches long, but there were a great many that measured from 12 inches to 14 inches.

Allen Fissel purchased a fine 2 year old colt at John Little's sale on Saturday.

Several cases of whooping cough had been reported in this place but they have proved to be false.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Appller, of Gettysburg, spent Saturday evening with Milton Benner and wife of this place.

Mrs. Harry Little and children, of this place, spent Tuesday in New Oxford.

Ervin L. Bucher spent Saturday at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bucher, of Alloways.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Appller, of Gettysburg, spent Sunday evening in this place.

Mervin Wintrode and family, of Germany township, spent Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs.
Charles Wintrode of this place.

William G. Little, of Alloways, made a business trip to this place on Thursday.

The warm spring weather of the past week has brought the dreaded
"spring fever" germs and many people secured a hard attack of the disease.

Gettysburg's desires in the matter of a new federal building here and is called in response to a request from Congressman Lefan for official action in the matter.

THE HIGH ROLLERS

Tuesday evening, March 8, The High Rollers will be the attraction at Walter's Theatre presenting two very clever burlesques entitled "The Merry Kiddo and the Widow," and "The company contains forty five people, including a handsome chorus of twenty five beautiful damsels.

Don't forget C. P. Bream's sale,

FIRST AUTO RUN COMING IN MAY

Motor Club of Harrisburg to Have Annual Run. Will likely go to Pittsburg, Stopping here on First Day's Run.

The first automobile run of the season to come through Gettysburg is that of the Motor Club of Harrisburg.
The dates fixed are May 9 to 14. Indications are that this run will be the most successful in the history of the club. The manufacturers have already signified their intention of participating and five applications have been filed.

The route and length of the contest are still undecided, but there is a strong sentiment in favor of a three day run from Harrisburg to Pittsburg and return. According to the present plan the first day's run would be from Harrisburg to Cumberland, Md., via Gettysburg, Waynesboro, Hagerstown, and Hancock. On the second day the route would lead from Cumberland to Pittsburg via Uniontown and Washington. For the third day an extremely hard schedule would await the contestants, a drive of 210 miles over the Southern Cross State route by Bedford Springs and Chambersburg.
Another route via Johnstown, Altoona and Lewistown is being considered for the return trip.

The general rules which have governed the previous contests of the Harrisburg club will be in force, with four classes for competition, two for touring cars and two for runabouts.
Handsome trophies will be given the winners in each class and the technical penalties and examination of all cars at the end of the run will be strictly enforced.

STOLE ICE CREAM

The food sale and ice cream social held at the home of Miss Mary Myers on Saturday evening was a success financially and a pleasant affair. Someone toward the close however, wanted ice cream without paying for it and slipped a freezer from the yard. Mr.
Ridinger and Mr. Wallick searched the alleys near and on Sunday morning Mr. Wallick discovered the missing freezer, minus ice cream in rear of post office, whither, it is supposed,
some boys, who were seen loitering around, had taken, and enjoyed the stolen sweets. The net proceeds of the social were something over $18.00.

GOOD SALES

The public sale of J. C. Minter in Franklin township on Saturday was well attended. Stock brought good prices; one brood mare 10 years old brought $250; another brood mare the same age brought $238; 13 shoats brought $167.12 or $12.85 each. The entire amount of the sale was $1357.87.
Martz was the auctioneer.

The sale of Abraham Wenk in Menallen township on Saturday brought good prices. Two sows brought $101.50; four shoats $60; a cow sold for $56; a horse 15 years old $138. The sale totalled $1706.77, of which over $600 was realized from hogs. Ira P. Taylor was the auctioneer.

MARCH STORM

The first thunderstorm of 1910 passed over Gettysburg and the county about ten o'clock Sunday night when a storm of unusual severity visited this part of the country.

The lightning was unusually vivid and the thunder very heavy. The storm broke with little warning and passed rapidly but while it lasted was one of the old fashioned mid summer variety. During the half hour or more that the untimely affair prevailed there was some rain and during the night a severe wind storm followed.

COMING

With the performance on Tuesday evening, March 8, the attraction at Walter's Theatre will be The High Rollers Company, which is undoubtedly without a rival in extravagance or burlesque. This season, the management instructed its representatives to get the best people in burlesque and vaudeville regardless of expense, to give costumes full sway in the matter of the gowns and dresses, and to get a chorus of the prettiest women in the theatrical field. Novelties from Europe have been secured for the olio, and nothing has been left undone to make the company the biggest feature of this season.

Mrs. Daisy Long Kyler, wife of George Kyler, died Sunday night at monia aged 27 years.

Mrs. Kyler was a daughter of Mr. and Robert R. Long, formerly of this place, and lived here until about six years ago when her father moved to Lewistown. She resided there for two years when she married Mr. Kyler and since then has been living in Lock Haven. She had many friends in Gettysburg to whom the news of her death will come as that of a severe personal loss.

Surviving her are her husband and a daughter, Nina; her father, Robert R. Long, of Lewistown, one sister, Mrs. Ray Rupp, of Gettysburg; and place, and Roy Long, of Lewistown.

day afternoon at 1.55. Funeral from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rupp at 1.30 Wednesday afternoon. Interment in Evergreen Cemetery.

Let Us Smile.

There is no room for sadness when we see a cheery smile.
It always has the same good look—it's never out of style.
It nerves us on to try again when failure
makes us blue.
The dimples of encouragement are good for me and you.
It pays a higher interest, for it is merely lent—
It's worth a million dollars and doesn't cost a cent.

According to Rule.

Oberlin was the first coeducational college in this country. In the early days it had a rule that in case there were but one man and one woman in a room at least one chair should be between them. One evening an instructor, passing one of the small sitting rooms, was horrified at beholding
a young man and a young woman occupying the same chair.
"Sir," he demanded of the man student, "what is the meaning of this outrageous behavior? Do you not know the rules of the college?"
"Why—er—don't they say that if a man and a girl sit alone in a room they shall have one chair between them?"

It Didn't Work.

A man who lives far uptown in New York is not sure whether the joke is on him or on his wife. Here is how he tells it:

"One night last week I thought I heard some one prowling about the house, and as there have been a number of houses broken into lately I concluded that the noise was made by burglars. As I sat up in bed listening I chanced to glance into the next room,
the door of our bedroom being open,
and there, sure enough, stood a burglar coolly examining our silver plate.
With this startling discovery came the chilling thought that I hadn't such a thing as a firearm in the house. But I determined to see what bluff would do, so, turning to my wife, I said in a loud voice:

"'Mary, where's my revolver?'
'John,' she answered in a voice equally as loud, 'there isn't such a thing in the house, and you know it.'"
"After that I closed and locked the door and blew a police whistle."

SOFT COAL MINERS EXPECT AN ADVANCE
Lewis Believes Men Will Win Without Loss of Work

Indianapolis, March 7.—“Any agreement must carry with it an advance in wages for the mine workers of the country,” declared President T. L. Lewis, of the United Mine Workers, in speaking of the conference to be held on March 15 at Cincinnati to adjust a wage scale affecting 500,000 men.
 “Everything depends upon the success of negotiations in Cincinnati within the next two weeks,” he continued. “I believe an agreement will be reached with an advance in wages and no suspension of work.”
 Mr. Lewis also made some significant statements concerning the commission which the miners have pushing their interests in congress. Concerning this commission he said:
 “Through its medium we will be able to determine definitely who are the friends and who are the enemies of organized labor in the congress of the United States. And when the time comes, from a purely selfish standpoint, we will do what the corporations and business interests of the country have been doing for years.”
 “We will reward our friends and punish our enemies insofar as we are able to do that at the ballot box.”

SIGN NOTES FOR $40.000
 Rural Lehigh Counties Think They Are Becoming Insurers.
 Allentown, Pa., March 7.—It came to light that residents of Heidelberg and Lehigh townships, Lehigh county, had been swindled out of $40,000 by means of a crooked insurance deal. Early in the winter several agents canvassed the region, inducing farmers and others to subscribe from $200 to $3,000 worth of stock in a proposed new insurance company.
 It has just become known that the blanks they signed were transformed into promissory notes, which had immediately been realized upon by the swindlers. The agents operated quickly and decamped. All those duped were of good standing and the swindlers had no difficulty in getting their money. Some families have been hit for as much as $3,000.

NECK BROKEN; IN JAIL
 Man With Bridle to Hold Head Charged With Drunkenness.
 Selins Grove, Pa., March 7.—Found on the streets of Sunbury, Pa., in a seemingly intoxicated condition, John Parker, claiming Altoona as his home, was thrust into a local prison on a charge of being drunk and disorderly.
 The stranger wore a bridle about his head for the purpose of holding his head, claiming that his neck was broken. A short time after his incarceration a surgeon was called in to make an examination.
 The physician found that the prisoner's story was true and declared that the case was unparalleled in his experience. The man was given his freedom and immediately began a journey to Williamsport, Pa.

When Bubar stooped to pick up a hen last Monday the rooster flew at him and scratched his neck. It is believed that a foreign substance entered the wound, since blood poisoning developed.

OLEO PROBE HITS SENATOR
Lorimer Advised Settlement of Case Out of Court.

DEALER'S PLACE WAS RAIDED
 Senator Told Him to Pay $500 to Settle Case, Which He Did, But New Collector Ignored Purchased Immunity and Began Suit.

Chicago, March 7.—Despite the denials of Senator William Lorimer that he knows nothing about the oleomargarine frauds that have been perpetrated on the government by the Broadwell interests, the senator has been drawn into the scandal as the writer of a letter advising that a case be compromised out of court.
 The letter was written to William Broadwell, according to Broadwell, and advised Broadwell to offer the revenue officials who raided the place on Sept. 29, 1909, $500 to settle the case out of court. As an added verification of Broadwell's statement it was learned that he followed this advice and paid the $500 to Collector Henry Hertz. The letter bore a signature purporting to be that of William Lorimer.
 Broadwell did not long enjoy the immunity thus purchased. Colonel C. H. Ingram, a southern official, who was transferred temporarily to Chicago to handle the oleo cases, was not willing to permit the perpetrators of the frauds to escape so easily. So he ignored the purchased immunity, with the result that the recent disclosures, involving practically all of the big oleomargarine manufacturers in Chicago, were brought about.
 Lorimer Letter.
 Here is the letter exhibited by William Broadwell:
 “William Broadwell.—Regarding your differences with government officials, I would suggest that you go to the internal revenue office in the federal building and offer $500 to compromise the case.”
 When Senator Lorimer was found he made a partial denial of his connection with the scandal.
 It was learned that information concerning the relations of Congressman William J. Moxley, butlerine manufacturer, with those of his customers now under indictment as oleo “moonshiners,” has been in the hands of high government officials since last autumn and that when Federal Judge Landis took the oleo probe into his hands he practically snatched it away from the officials who made no use of the tip during the several months that have intervened.
 It was six months ago that the Chicago revenue officials, as the result of spectacular raids of the butlerine “manipulators,” uncovered the secrets of the business revealed by the defendants in Judge Landis' court.
 Assertions by the dealers that Moxley furnished the wrappers for one-pound prints of butlerine labeled with the stamp guaranteeing inspection and passing by the government coincide with the information that the revenue officers collected.
 Up to Department.
 It was learned that a Chicago revenue official wrote of these circumstances in a letter to R. E. Cabell, commissioner of internal revenue at Washington, and that in this letter this question was asked of the department: “Do not these things suggest collusion with the colorers?”
 The letter containing this question is on file somewhere in Washington. Commissioner Cabell submitted it to his chief, Franklin MacVeagh, secretary of the treasury. Mr. MacVeagh passed on the question of the use of the wrappers, decided that if there was a violation, it was one of the pure food laws with reference to the inspection of food products. This is in the province of the department of agriculture, and he sent the letter to James Wilson, secretary of agriculture.
 Whether or not Secretary Wilson referred it to the Chicago office of the bureau of animal industry could not be learned here.

SENATOR DOLLIVER
 Slated For Defeat by the Administration.

TAFT GIRDS FOR BATTLE
 Plans to Fight Insurgents, Beginning With Dolliver.
 Washington, March 7.—President Taft has put on his armor and started his fight. His fight is to find out whether the people who are damning his administration are right or whether he is right.
 He is convinced that he is right, and he is going to meet the wrong where it lives and he will start his fight in Iowa. That state is the home of insurgency and the home of Senators Dolliver and Cummins. He does not believe that Dolliver is sincere or that Dolliver truly represents Iowa sentiment. Accordingly the president's fight is to begin on Dolliver.
 He summoned persons to the White House to frame up the fight. He called Representative Walter Smith, of Iowa, a stand-patter in congress and a member of Speaker Cannon's committee on rules; Representative Kennedy, of Iowa, another conservative; former Representative Hepburn and Representative McKinley, of Illinois. The fight is to be against the whole insurgent idea, with Dolliver as the immediate target. He is not regarded as an insurgent and is not respected as such by the administration. He is held to be an "opportunist," and he is going to be shown up.

MURDER LUST NOW CHARGED
Dr. Hyde Accused of Wholesale Poison Plot.

Kansas City, Mo., March 7.—Murder for love, murder for hate, or murder just to satisfy a degenerate lust for killing; which?
 These are the questions heard most frequently in what is now become the most amazing and almost unbelievable Swope case. The indictment of Dr. B. Clarke Hyde, charged with three murders, and also with attempting to kill other members of the Swope family, was followed by a sensational statement made by Mrs. Logan O. Swope, whose daughter, the wife of Dr. Hyde, has also been arrested, and who, it is charged, is directly concerned in what everybody is becoming to believe is a wholesale poisoning plot.
 Despite the advice of her lawyers, Mrs. Swope, in making a deposition in the slander suit by Dr. Hyde, her son-in-law, laid bare secrets that have been in her household for years. And the woman, almost hysterical, added a new turn to affairs by declaring dramatically that she believed Dr. Hyde had tried to poison her.
 With tears coursing down her cheeks and almost shouting her story, she repeatedly rose from the witness chair in her excitement. She told the story of the courtship of Dr. Hyde; how she tried to like him as a son-in-law; of her belief that he had attempted to murder her relatives and at one time tried to poison her. The charge that Dr. Hyde tried to poison Mrs. Swope is a new feature in the case.

STRIKE LEADERS TO BE ARRESTED

Philadelphia Officials Plan to Jail Them For Conspiracy.

RIOTING ALL OVER THE CITY

Cars and Policemen Were Attacked by Mobs and Many Were Injured, One Fatally—Woman With Baby In Her Arms Was Shot In Breast.

Philadelphia, March 7.—The city officials and Francis S. Brown, counsel for the Rapid Transit company, have decided to cause the arrest of all the union labor leaders who are directing the trolley strike on the charge of conspiracy.

Neither Mayor Reyburn nor Director of Public Safety Clay nor Mr. Brown would breathe a word of what took place in the conference, but the information is positive that the authorities have determined to arrest and clap into jail ten or a dozen men who caused the general strike of at least 70,000 men.

Action is to be taken against these men under the common law of Pennsylvania, which broadly defines conspiracy as the attainment or attempt at attainment of a lawful thing by unlawful means, or the attainment or attempt at attainment of an unlawful thing by lawful means. Legal authorities have assured the city officials that they have a strong case against the union leaders in question.

The decision of the authorities to jail the leaders was partly assisted by the assurance that the political bosses would keep hands off. Now that the union men have set up a cry for a straight Labor party in Philadelphia they have mighty little to expect in the way of aid from the Republican machine. It is plainly understood that the machine will not interfere in any way with whatever action Reyburn and Clay may take to punish such as they believe are responsible for rioting and a loss to business that is conservatively estimated at $500,000 a day.

Rioting Breaks Out.

Rioting broke out Sunday evening in all sections of the city. Riot calls poured in upon the police. A crowd of boys began tantalizing a green policeman at Sixth and Carpenter streets. The policeman rushed the crowd and arrested one of the boys. The crowd attempted a rescue, and while the policeman was struggling to keep hold of his prisoner he was reinforced by a squad of policemen from a nearby station. The crowd was driven away, but it reformed at Eighth and Carpenter streets.

There were several thousand men and boys in the mob by this time. They barricaded the car tracks with cobblestones torn from the roadway. Every car that came along was bombarded, and men from the windows of houses along the street hurled cobblestones at the motormen and the police guards. Unluckily for the police, there was a large pile of bricks at this point, which furnished ammunition to the rioters.

Lieutenant Woods, commanding a detachment of men, attacked the crowd, which refused to break. Three automobile patrol wagons came tearing up. Some of the rioters took refuge in the home of John Forte, at 313 Christian street. Forte was at dinner with his wife and children. The policemen rushed into the diningroom and clubbed the men who had fled from the street. Forte protested and was struck down with a billy. Three men were arrested.

Ten thousand persons gathered in Allegheny avenue two blocks on either side of the Richmond car barns. Every car that came up was stoned. Several conductors and motormen were injured and half a dozen cars were wrecked, the mob tearing up the seats and smashing the windows.

Superintendent of Police Taylor sent a company of mounted policemen to the ground, and the troopers came on at full gallop. They sent their horses straight into the crowd, knocking men right and left. The men had their pistols ready to shoot if necessary, but the mob retreated from the horses, disintegrated and fled through the side streets. The police picked up several men whom they arrested for rioting.

Woman Carrying Baby Shot.

A woman carrying a baby was shot in the breast during a vicious encounter between the police and strike sympathizers at Fifth and Fulton streets. A large crowd was breaking car windows and bouncing bricks at motor men. Mrs. Jennie Brennan, who lives in Fulton street, was caught in the crowd with her eight-week-old baby. She tried to get away, but the press was so great that she was held until the police arrived and began to shoot.

A bullet struck her in the left breast, just under the shoulder. She fell to the ground, screaming, and her baby rolled out of her arms into the gutter. Her screams did more to break up the mob than the blows of the police. Several men were carted to the lockup.

There was a good deal of disorder in the northern part of the city along towards dawn. An old man named Robert Costello was fatally shot by a policeman. Costello was in a crowd at Lehigh avenue and Twenty-sixth street. The more the crowd increased in size the more disorderly it became.

Policemen tried to break it up. They were egged from the windows of the houses and stoned by persons in the crowd.

The policemen drew pistols and fired into the air, but the threat accomplished nothing. The crowd became more violent. Several policemen were knocked down and seriously hurt. It was apparent that the small force had no chance against 3000 angry rioters. Reinforcements arrived and charged the crowd in grim earnest. Policemen shot at the ringleaders and shot to kill.

Policeman Shot Man In Back.

Costello turned out of the crowd and ran toward his own home in the immediate neighborhood. A policeman followed him and shot him as Costello reached the back yard of his place. The man was taken to the Woman's Homeopathic hospital, where a priest administered the last rites.

Several rioters were hit by bullets, but none was seriously hurt. A number of the disturbers pent the night in cells.

Policeman Samuel Renshaw was badly beaten by a crowd of strike sympathizers at Seventy-first street and Woodland avenue. William McPherson, the proprietor of a poolroom, was in the crowd which stoned cars. A policeman firing from one of the cars winged McPherson and dropped him with a broken leg.

Still hoping that the influence of business men will be able to bring about a settlement of the strike within the next few days, the United Business Men's association will meet this afternoon to endeavor to formulate a new plan of settlement which might be agreeable to the Rapid Transit company.

Two features of the general situation that are being watched closely are the attitude of the brewery employees and the stationary firemen. Tim Healy, national president of the firemen, came here from New York and insisted that the Rapid Transit power houses will be emptied of firemen within the next twenty-four hours. That, of course, would be more crippling to the company than the loss of a thousand motormen and conductors. The Rapid Transit officials insist, though, that they employ no union firemen and that their employees in the power houses will remain loyal.

SCHWAB TURNS DOWN STRIKERS

Says He Will Not Treat With Men Who Quit Jobs.

Schwab Notifies Men No Consideration Will Be Given Their Demands.

South Bethlehem, Pa., March 7.—President Charles M. Schwab, of the Bethlehem Steel company, refused to deal with the men on strike at his plant or to recognize the union. He reached this conclusion after reading the communication from the executive committee of the strikers, which contained the demands of the men.

Mr. Schwab notified the strikers that no consideration can be given to their demands because they do not emanate from men working in the plant. The position of the steel company is defined in a letter given to the public, which is as follows:

"I am in receipt of the following communication which I desire to make public and give our position in reference thereto:

"We infer that the communication bearing the signature of the executive committee originated either with representatives of organized labor or men who have left our employ during the last month. We desire to notify the men who left our employ, as well as the general public, that we can give no consideration to the communication since it does not emanate from men working in our plant. It must be understood that under no circumstances will we deal with men on a strike or a body of men representing organized labor.

"Having thus defined our position, we shall refrain from further statements or acknowledgments of any communications or solicitations from any source whatever."

BODY GUARD FOR GOVERNOR

Too Many Crimes and Cranks at Rhode Island's Capital.

Providence, R. I., March 7.—The recent carnival of crime in this city and vicinity, including murders, highway robberies and burglaries, together with the appearance of an unusual number of cranks of all kinds, has caused the state authorities to appoint a bodyguard for the protection of Governor Aram J. Pothier while at the state house. Recently a change has been made at the gubernatorial offices at the capitol so that any person desiring to see the governor must pass through the ante-chamber and then the office of the executive secretary.

Deputy Sheriff White has detailed a deputy for permanent duty at the executive offices.

THOMAS C. PLATT PASSES AWAY

Ex-United States Senator Dies in New York.

HE WAS 77 YEARS OF AGE

Former Republican Boss of New York Had Suffered With Palsy For Years, When He Was Stricken With Bright's Disease, Which Hastened His End.

New York, March 7.—Former United States Senator Thomas Collier Platt, Republican leader of the state of New York, died in his apartments at 133 West Eleventh street. He was seventy-seven years of age.

The direct cause of Mr. Platt's death was acute Bright's disease. For a number of years he had suffered with palsy of the legs, which necessitated his occupying a wheel chair most of the time.

Thomas Collier Platt was born in Owego, Tioga county, on July 15, 1833. His father was William Platt, a lawyer, who practiced at Owego. His mother was Leslie Hinchman, of a Jamaica, L. I., family with a Revolutionary record.

Thomas C. Platt attended the public school and academy in Owego and in 1849 entered Yale college. His scholarship was good, but he was obliged to give up his course because of ill health.

Forced to abandon his idea of taking a full collegiate course, Mr. Platt returned to Owego, and started business as a country druggist, forming a co-partnership with Frederick M. Hull under the firm name of Platt & Hull. In 1854, when he was twenty-one years old, he married his cousin, Ellen Lucy Barstow, daughter of Charles R. Barstow, originally of Stockbridge, Mass. Miss Barstow was then seventeen. He had three sons, Edwin T. Platt, now treasurer of the United States Express company; Frank H. Platt, a member of the law firm of O'Brien, Boardman, Platt & Littleton, and Edward T. Platt. The mother of these boys died in 1891.

In 1872 Mr. Platt was elected to congress. He was re-elected in 1874, and declined another re-nomination in 1876. In 1877 he was elected chairman of the Republican state committee.

In those days Platt was a national power. With the defeat of James G. Blaine for president, Platt became an absolute power in New York state. In 1888 Platt and the late Senator Quay, the national chairman, ran the Harrison campaign.

It is a matter of history how Platt did not break openly with Harrison after the Indianan became president, as did Quay; but when the Minneapolis convention came around Platt was there with most of his delegates ranged against Harrison, who was finally named only to be defeated.

Platt was one of the three men who told Harrison in September that his election would be assured if he would agree to certain conditions—which were promptly refused. When the answer was returned Senator Quay remarked: "All right. He thinks the Lord elected him in 1888. Let us see what the Lord will do this time." And Cleveland was elected.

Theodore Roosevelt came back from Cuba at the head of his Rough Riders in 1898, just in time for Platt to decide that he was the logical Republican candidate for governor. Roosevelt was nominated by Platt, and the Republican elected him governor. But, like many other governors chosen by Mr. Platt, the "easy boss" could not control him.

Platt's last and greatest essay as a national leader was made in Philadelphia at the Republican national convention in May, 1900. He wanted to get rid of Roosevelt as governor of New York. So, on the night of the first day of the Philadelphia convention Platt had a conference with Quay, and the two decided to force Roosevelt on the ticket as vice president. But how was the serious question.

McKinley did not want him. Mark Hanna was dead against him, and whatever power the administration possessed was to be used for Secretary John D. Long. Platt left the details to Quay. Quay waited until the convention was nearly ready to adjourn on the second day and then offered his resolution calling for the future apportionment of delegates to the convention on the basis of the Republican vote. That night the terrified office-holding delegates from the south came to Quay to know what he desired.

They were taken to Platt and told that Roosevelt was the man for vice president, and that his nomination would secure the withdrawal of the resolution. This news was conveyed to Hanna, who almost had a fit of apoplexy; but, seeing that there was certain to be a row he gave in. The next day Platt took a train for New York and Roosevelt was nominated.

The real finish of Platt's political career came with the election of Odell as governor of New York. Odell became then the real leader, with Platt as a figurehead.

Senator Platt's latest troubles came in life. They began when Mae C. Wood, a former postoffice department clerk, made claim, in 1905, of being Senator Platt's wife.

Nervous Prostration

"I suffered so with Nervous Prostration that I thought there was no use trying to get well. A friend recommended Dr. Miles' Nerve, and although skeptical at first, I soon found myself recovering, and am to-day well."

MRS. D. I. JONES,
5800 Broadway, Cleveland, O.

Much sickness is of nervous origin. It's the nerves that make the heart force the blood through the veins, the lungs take in oxygen, the stomach digest food, the liver secrete bile and the kidneys filter the blood. If any of these organs are weak, it is the fault of the nerves through which they get their strength. Dr. Miles' Nerve is a specific for the nerves. It soothes the irritation and assists in the generation of nerve force. Therefore you can hardly miss it if you take Dr. Miles' Nerve when sick. Get a bottle from your druggist. Take it all according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

CATARRH

Quickly Cured by a Pleasant Germ-Killing Antiseptic
The little Hyomei (pronounced High-o-mei) inhaler is made of hard rubber and can easily be carried in pocket or purse. It will last a lifetime.
Into this inhaler you pour a few drops of magical Hyomei.
This is absorbed by the antiseptic gauze within and now you are ready to breathe it in over the germ infested membrane where it will speedily begin its work of killing catarrh germs. Hyomei is made of Australian eucalypt combined with other antiseptics and is very pleasant to breathe.
It is guaranteed to cure catarrh, bronchitis, sore throat, croup, coughs and colds or money back. It cleans out a stuffed up head in two minutes.
Sold by druggists everywhere and by People's Drug Store. Complete outfit including inhaler and one bottle of Hyomei, $1.00. And remember that extra bottles if afterward needed cost only 50c.

Where the manure cannot be spread at once on a accumulating it should be so handled that there will be the least possible loss of its fertilizing elements from rain and weather until the job can be done. Careful tests which have been made show that if left to leech nature will lose half of its value in the course of four or five months.

In several states dogs are considered property and are given a nominal value of a dollar simply to establish their legal status. In those states an owner may recover damages if his dog is killed without good excuse and is also held responsible for damage that the dog may be responsible for, be it killing sheep, mauling runaways or other form of mischief.
As a rule the dog, and acres are the richest in fertilizing elements and will be the most productive if properly tilled. In the inauguration of the more intensive type of agriculture which must surely come with a steady increase in population and cheap lands about all taken up, this redemption of the wet acres ought to receive an ever increasing attention.

Individually in cows has been given a thorough test of late at the Wisconsin experiment station. At the end of the testing period, three years, it was found that the receipts from one cow exceeded her cost of keep by $110, while the combined profit of five other cows for the same time was only $114, but a trifle more than the same return, and that, too, with nearly five times the amount of feed and work bestowed on the one. There ought to be a suggestion or two in these figures for the practical dairyman.

All Newspapers Should Copy This

We cheerfully copy the following:
"I hope that every newspaper in the country will copy this. If they will, they will do worlds of good for thousands of sick people who are now suffering as I did for years with my stomach and kidneys, but thanks to the wonderful medicine that is now doing so much good all over the country, I am liberated from my years of torture and am once more enjoying the great blessing of good health. For several years my back was hurting me most of the time, and I would have to get up from ten to fifteen times every night on account of my kidneys. My food would sour and burn in my stomach and I would bloat and belch until I would get dizzy and nervous. I was badly constipated, and had to be taking something all the time. If I didn't I was sure to have a bad spell of sick headache. No one knows how much I did suffer, but after taking the great remedy, Root Juice, a short time, I began to improve, and after using about six bottles I am strong and well, and feel like a boy. I am glad to tell every sick person all about it, because I sympathize with those who suffer as I did." L. F. Pratt, South Bend, Ind. It is well known here that Root Juice is certainly a wonderful medicine. It is sold for one dollar a bottle or three bottles for two dollars and a half. People's drug store.

Her Snowball

By MOLLIE K. WETHERELL

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

Eleanor Bartow was one of the many young women who hammer on typewriter keys all day, go to bed as soon as they get home, arise in the morning and begin hammering at the keys again. The only hope she had for anything better was in saving from the meager salary received, accumulating a pecuniary snowball and letting it roll and roll till it was a great mass. But the snow was very thin and dry and cold and wouldn't pack. Again and again she thought she had her ball started, but it fell to pieces. She calculated ahead so far as she was able in the matter of necessities, but just when she expected to put something sizable into her savings bank her shoes would give out or she would need a winter coat or some other article of clothing, and so it was a long while before she had got together even a hundred dollars.
Then her snowball began to pack, and at the end of another year by dint of the severest parsimony she had doubled her capital. But just as she was feeling elated that she would be in receipt of $8 a year which she would not have to work for she was taken ill, and nearly $50 of her savings were paid out for doctor's fees and medicines.
As soon as the plucky girl was well she began again, and in another six months her snowball had recovered what it had lost. From that time forward she did better. She not only received an increase of salary, but her funds were paying interest. There were backsets, of course, but when the semiannual figuring of interest came round and she looked at her total it was always increased till at length she had got together a thousand dollars.
The receiving teller of the savings bank where she kept her funds was a nice looking young man, and always when she made a deposit he smiled at her and had something pleasant to say.
One day there came a commercial panic. Prices went down, down, down, till securities could be bought in many cases for half their intrinsic value. One day when Eleanor went to the bank to make a deposit her teller friend said to her:
"There is an opportunity just now for you to make some money. Take what you have in here and buy a few shares of some kind of stock. Choose only what is regarded as sound, pay for it out and out and put it away."
He gave her a list of shares he considered good and the address of a broker. The result of this advice was that she put all the money she had in the stock of a corporation which could be bought so far below par that she held what represented four times what she had paid.
Several years passed. The panic was over, and securities had reassumed their normal value. One day Eleanor concluded to sell the shares she had bought during the panic and put the money back in the savings bank. She knew nothing of banking, so when the broker offered her his check she asked for currency instead. He sent out the check, got it cashed and paid her forty-five hundred-dollar bills.
She went to the savings bank flushed with the thought of meeting her teller friend, but on reaching it saw another face at the window. She was told that the former teller had gone to the —th National, around the corner.
The clock in the savings bank stood at five minutes to 3 when Eleanor started for the —th National bank and at two minutes of 3 when she reached the receiving teller's window. On seeing Eleanor his face lighted with a smile, but when she laid down her treasure his expression changed.
"You're too late to deposit that today," he said.
"Isn't the closing hour 3 o'clock?" she asked.
"Yes, but I'm too busy to attend to it today."
"Heavens! What can I do with it? I shall be robbed!"
"Very well, I'll take it, but I haven't time to make a deposit ticket for you or give you a bank book. Come tomorrow."
He took the money, and Eleanor saw him put it in a safe. Then the next depositor took his place and the next. When the window was closed it was 3 o'clock.
The next morning Eleanor heard people talking about the failure of a bank. Her cheeks blanched when she learned it was the institution where she had put her snowball. She hurried to the place, found the doors closed and a crowd of melancholy people standing about. Oh, the misery of that moment! Hot tears were starting from her eyes when she felt a tap on her shoulder. Turning, there stood her teller friend. Putting his finger to his lips and walking away, he gave her a look that told her to follow him. She did so, and when they were alone he said:
"Five minutes before you came to the bank with your money yesterday the directors decided not to open today. I was told to give out no information till this morning. I tried to send you away and failed. But you made no deposit in the bank and have nothing to show that you intended to make one. Your money is in my own private box. I will bring it to you this evening."
And so he did. That snowball is now over $50,000, and the bank teller manages it as the capitalist's husband.
